Investing In Your Future

Kid Friendly Websites

We seem to be drowning in news about bad things that can happen on the Internet, but now it's time for some good news. There are many, many good websites for children and families on the Internet; ones that provide education as well as fun. Here is a short list of kid friendly websites.

www.fisher-price.com – When you get past the ads, you can find good activities and games for preschoolers.

Children's Storybooks Online - www.magickeys.com/books/ - children of all ages can read illustrated books or have the books read to them.

Doodle - www.doodlestudio.com/paint/paint1.html - this fun website is perfect for the aspiring artist to refine their skills and even be featured in the online gallery.

Crayola Creativity Central - www.crayola.com/crafts/ - there are lots of great craft ideas here (featuring Crayola products, of course). A free membership is required.

www.learningplanet.com/ - this multi-faceted website has loads of educational games and activities for kids from preschool to grade 6.

Parents, remember that it is your responsibility to check out these or any new websites yourself before you let your children use them. It is strongly recommended that parents participate with their children when visiting new websites.

It's also important to remember that your Internet experience is enhanced when you use PTC's reliable high-speed broadband Internet service. Choose PTC when it's important to have the best.
